Introducing EcoVeil™

Inspired by William McDonough and Michael Braungart's book on "Cradle to Cradle" design, MechoShade has worked closely with MBDC to create an eco-effective fabric for our solar shade systems. Solar shade solutions have always been an important part of sustainable design. Now we're introducing EcoVeil, our revolutionary new shade cloth.

Truly Revolutionary

EcoVeil is better than PVC free, it is designed to be what MBDC calls a "technical nutrient", which means all inputs are being evaluated for their impact on human and environmental health. As a true "Cradle to Cradle" shade cloth, EcoVeil can be reclaimed and remade into new, first quality fabric, rather than "downcycled" into a product of lesser quality.
